Investigative Prompt

On your next outing, find in a safe nature space. Try to use your eyes, ears, hands and nose to see if you can investigate different habitats. Make some good observations in a journal or drawing. See other journal samples in folder.

Can you can find these things using more than one of your senses?

- An organism or creature that has everything it needs (plant or animal)
- An organism or creature that seems to missing something in its habitat
 - Can you find a place the would better fit the creature that seems to be missing a piece of it's habitat?
- A creature that might have a "super sense" (strong sense of smell, hearing, sight, etc.)

Use your senses to create these observations, but take note of anything else that makes you think, "I wonder...", "that's awesome that..." or "I think that..."

Once you go back home, see if you can research some answers to your "I wonder..." questions.
